

Dear Sir,

I am hereby applying for entrance to Master International Financial Management of the IAE Aix for the 2010 fall term.

First of all I would like to present some background about myself. My name is Arslan, currently living and working with banking sector in Dubai, originally from Pakistan. Since my early years the question of my future university studies and then a profession was very important to me.

During my University studies I was the member of a student council. This allowed me to develop and use my organizational skills. When I successfully completed my MBA, I served as Admin Officer on admin and human resource office defence ministry of Pakistan. It was a good possibility for me to sharpen administrative skills and interpersonal relations. I asked myself a question, which profession will grant me the ability to use and improve my skills. I have already realised that it must be something related to marketing and financial management, so the next step was to find out in which sector of marketing and management I will express myself best and could use all my skills. I was always fascinated by banking sector, business and economics and its influence on daily life. I change my job and switched to banking sector. I changed two jobs within banking sector for the sake of my career progression. The best choice for me was to enter in international Job Market so I joined Emirates NBD, Dubai.

Now I am feeling that for future career growth I should enhance my academics in a more precise field. For me the best choice is some thing relevant to International Financial Management. I have found the programme offered by your university exactly inline with what I want to do. I am strongly realising that I have to sharpen my financial communication skills, financial management, risk analysis and funds management. The above-mentioned programme meets my professional requirements, as I am a part of UAE leading financial organisation Emirates NBD.
